Principal Chief Kay Rhoads Address To The Nation

Government agencies and of Transportation (DOT). tribes are trying to get caught up on various issues that were on hold from the government shutdown. Many grant programs were held in limbo to see if the deadline for submission was to be extended. Some agencies extended deadline or are working with the tribal governments to get grant applications corrected to meet the grant reqi rements. Many meetings had to be postponed and are now back on line to take care of program issues.

As co-chair of the National Department of Transportation Negotiated Rule Making Committee, we reconvened a meeting at the Grand Casino Hotel in Shawnee, March 18-20, 2019, to continue to write the regulations for Self-Governance to become a part of the Department the staff at DOT to get the rules published by the deadline of December 4, 29 Congress granted an extension to the committee last July after the Tribal and DOT Committee members failed to conduct meaningful negotiations on several issues resulting in tribal representatives walking out of negotiations.

Because of the Government shut-down, two of the committees meeting were canceled and has now put the committee at a disadvantage to get the rule published by December 4, 29 The committee has assigned a sub-drafters team to put together draft language for committee approval. The March meeting was a chance for the entire committee to come together and address some of the sticking points in the regulations that need further review.

The full committee will reconvene in June 2019 to finish up the regulations before sending the document to tribes for input and consultation. Once the tribes submit their comments it will then come back to committee to address the comments before modifying and then send to the Secretary of DOT for approval and then on Congress to become law. If the committee cannot complete the outlined process before the December deadline, DOT will ask for a 120 day extension to complete the document.

The Committee has worked very hard to make sure the tribes' voices are heard in the document. Protection of tribal sovereignty and program guidelines that help to support the local needs of the tribal communities are necessary parts that must be included in the regulations. The tribal representatives that have served on this committee have done a stellar job of expressing tribal concerns and it appears to be making a difference in what the final outcome will yield.

A recent visit to meet with BIA Area Director Jim Shock to seek additional funding was very productive. Accompanied by Debbie Wright, Self-Governance, we were able to outline some of various program needs. The programs discussed included the Juvenile Detention Center and that lack of funding needed for the facility maintenance, which has never been fully funded by the BIA.

The ICW and Social Service Programs are always underfunded, given the level of need for our tribal members. The number of cases being handled by ICW has increased substantially over the years, but funding continues to not meet the growing need of the program.

Social Services is also struggling to address the needs of our people. Energy programs to assist tribal members with heat and air conditioning is limited. Emergency funds are being supplemented by the RAP Program, but the Social Service Program never has enough money to assist all those who seek help.

The program has limited funding to aid people in getting eqi pment to begin new jobs, GED training, and some limited support for transportation. Priority for the Social Service and ICW has not been a priority for the BIA budgets for many years. Although they receive funding, the majority of funding goes to other programs within the BIA.

Another program identified to the Area Director was the tribal court and their need to update their record-keeping systems. Court staffing was discussed as an issue due to the increasing demands of our court system.

Our education program has seen a steady increase in college enrollment for May 11, 2019. A taco sale is set for and more funding is needed to assist our youth in pursuing an education. The number of graduates is increasing annually. The past semester, we had nine Fox Community Bldg.

(9 students complete their bachelor's degree. It is encouraging to see so many of our tribal members seeking a college education but as expressed to Mr. Shock, additional funding is needed.

We also presented the desire to upgrade our tribal land and make improvements so it can become more useful. We told him about our land and cattle program and the intent to grow a cattle herd, while making our tribal lands usable by thinning the cedar trees, doing controlled burns, building fences and working ground for crop possibilities. We did receive some funding earlier in the year from BIA to remove some cedars, but we pointed out that the Nation has used some of their own funds to make improvements.

Upon our return from our Anadarko visit, we received a call from Mr. Shock stating the BIA was sending the Sac and Fox Nation, a one-time award of $60 to use for the land improvement program. This funding is coming from the Southern Plains Regional Office to address our request for additional financial help.

Unfortunately, the other areas did not have surplus dollars but, our reque sts are now being forwarded to the Central Office in Washington. D.C. for a second round of funding. No guarantees, but if you don't ask, you are not considered in the decision.

Several road projects are being targeted over the next few months. An access road behind the clinic and connecting the road by the Juvenile Detention Center is being designed to provide alternative access to the people working and visiting the clinic, education, CTSA, Merle Boyd Center and gymnasium. This will also provide better access to the clinic that will be undergoing expansion to expand services in the areas of dental, optometry, and expanded physical therapy space.

Work in all the areas is underway and, with the beginning of a new season, it is a welcomed sight to see the new growth coming to our landscape and, also the growth to the various programs operated by the Sac and Fox Nation.

EDUCATION NEWS FOR APRIL

By Barbara Ramos, E da ation Director Sac and Fox Nation

The following \mathbf{q} ote is by Dr. Wayne Dyer: "When you have the choice to be right or to be kind, always choose to be kind." As we go through life, we all have to make choices and based upon this qot e it is better to be kind. I know that there are many of us who choose to be right; however, is being right always advantageous? Your ideas and thoughts as to what is right and wrong is just that: your idea and it does not mean that it is right for everyone. Keep an open mind to what is going on around you, kindness is the best choice.

It is so inspiring to know that more than 0 Native Americans ran in major races in 20 with Ø of them being Native women. Recognition has be given to American Indian Graduate Center (The Center for Native American Scholarships) for having at least five AIGC alumnae. Deb Haaland, New Mexico, is now a U.S. Representative and she stated, "We want our elected officials to look more like the communities they serve."

She goes on to state, "I hope that more Native students will look at public service as they move through their education. When we have elected officials that look like the community they serve they're going to be more adept at understanding what the issues are for their community members."

After many years of attending various colleges, I finally managed to choose and commit myself to an area of study I found that I enjoyed. I obtained a Bachelor of Science degree in Community Health Education with a minor in Management through the help of the (Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA) and the Sac and Fox Nation, who funded my education. My education has provided me the opportunity to use my knowledge and skills to help my tribe, the Sac and Fox Nation.

I recall what I had written in my college entrance essay: "That I someday want to return to work for my Tribe as a payback for what they did for me." I owned my own hairstyling businesses in Norman and Moore during the time I attended college, and when I completed my college degree, I began working for the Sac and Fox Nation as Program Assistant to the Director of Health.

I gave up furthering my education in obtaining a degree in Public Health through the University of Oklahoma and took a position with the Indian Health Service. Working with IHS provided me the opportunity to work with different tribes, as I managed both the Business Office and the Contract Health Program. After briefly leaving IHS, I had the opportunity to work for Blue Cross/ Blue Shield as a provider relations representative. This position provided me knowledge of health insurance and hospitals services. I returned to work for the Sac and Fox Nation as the contract health services director and went on to serve as the health director for the Black Hawk Health Clinic (BHHC) at the time the BHHC was built in its current location. I returned to work with Indian Health Services in Yuma, Arizona before I began to work on a Master's Degree in Special Education. During that time, I worked as a Special Education Teacher in Yuma, Arizona for both the high school and junior high. After the death of my husband, Victor Ramos, I returned to Oklahoma to be with members of my family. Eventually, I became the Sac and Fox Nation's director of education. Although earning my college degree was an ongoing process, I never gave up on obtaining a college degree. I was a single mom, owned my own business and worked long hours as a hairstylist but, at the ripe old age of 39 I finally earned my Bachelor of Science Degree. I was working on a Master's Degree at the age of $\boldsymbol{\theta}$ and I was a better and more accomplished student during that period of my life. So, anyone can do what is important to them. My point is this: If you want something bad enough you will find a way to accomplish achieving your goal.

My education and work experience has opened the door for me to provide assistance to other young men and women who seek to earn a college degree. I love what I do and it is with great pride that I see so many of our Sac and Fox tribal members attending college and graduating.

My hope is that one day our tribal members who received assistance through our RAP and DOI Education grants will eventually come back to the Sac and Fox Nation to utilize their knowledge and skills to serve the needs of our tribal members.

That is one reason I mentioned earlier in the article, Deb Haaland, who spoke about how we want "our elected officials to look more like the communities they serve." She further stated that "I hope that more Native students will look at public services as they move through their education. When we have elected official that look like the community they serve, they're going to be more adept at understanding what the issues are within their community."

If you live the struggle you know what other people are going through. So, when you get into public office you can be the voice for the people who look just like you. The one thing that stands out is that elected officials have an EDUCATION, because it is through education that we accomplish so much more to ensure that our Native people have a voice.

Tatewin Means, Lakota, who made a bid for South Dakota's attorney general, said, "I knew the odds were against me because of South Dakota's dynamics, racial dynamics and history, and the political climate. But I ultimately realized if I'm a part of breaking down some of those barriers (in running for office) then I'm OK with that."

According to Kim Baca, "The candidates that ran for offices wanted to not only serve their communities but, to also educate the rest of the world about Native people and their sovereign rights." Others stated it was to help protect tribal interest for future generations through creating or changing laws.

For those students who wish to pursue a career in public service, the two things that are most important are LEADER-SHIP SKILLS and KNOWLEDGE OF MANAGEMENT. These two areas, LEADERSHIP and MANAGEMENT, will lend VOICE to how we are heard and how we can help our COMMUNITY.

People in LEADERSHIP positions must recognize the fact that cultural change is imperative in order to support information sharing, collaboration and adaptability. Leaders must be able to recognize the need for change and make it happen. A good leader will develop a vision for the future and be able to communicate that vision into what the organization can become. A leader must be able to provide the motivation and guidance to get the organization to that point and then continue to make changes to ensure continued growth. MANAGEMENT is responsible for directing and coordinating other parts of the organization. Management is responsible for providing direction, strategy goals and policies for the organization. There are different levels of management and at each level there is a specific function for which they are responsible such as mediating between top management and the technical core. The technical core is charged with implementing rules and ensures that information is passed to all levels in the hierarchy. As you can see, there is a DIFFER-ENCE between LEADERSHIP and MANAGEMENT and it is important that we have people who have the knowledge and skills to be in these positions. American Indian Graduate Center (AIGC) introduced the ₩ akingTheGrad campaign to highlight the impressive achievements of the AIGC Scholars in academic excellence and community engagement. Each month, the committee selects one graduate and one undergraduate student receiving AIGC/AIGCS funding. Students of the Month awardees are showcased in AIGC's website and social media platforms, and also receive a certificate and a $50 Visa gift card.

Although I would like to acknowledge all of the scholars, I am going to focus on those scholars who are involved in LEADERSHIP Programs: Dakota Thompson, Graduate, Tribe: Cherokee Nation, School: University of Oklahoma, Degree: E.D.D., Educational Leadership Colin Ben, Graduate, Tribe: Navajo Nation, School: University of Utah, Degree: Ph.D, Educational Leadership and Policy; and, Shandiin Herrera, Undergraduate, Tribe: Navajo Nation, School: Duke University, Major: Public Policy, Cultural Anthropology minor.

Also, Jade Herman, Graduate, Tribe: Rosebud Sioux Tribe, School: Creighton University, Degree: Ph.D., Interdisciplinary Leadership Bonnie Lemon, Graduate, Tribe: Comanche Nation, School: Southeastern Oklahoma State University,

Field: Native American Leadership

The Education Department will begin accepting both DOI and RAP applications for the fall 29 semester – June 30 h is the deadline date for fall applications. I have received several calls from first time students requesting information on the application forms and the deadline date. Competition for college funding is growing as we have more and more students realizing that they need to have some type of higher education in order to compete for jobs in a global economy.

The Education Program has done very well since its inception and the past two years we have seen an increase in our numbers.

However, our funding is limited, so the numbers of students we will be able to serve will remain around θ unless we get additional funding. It is exciting to see how many individuals are interested in obtaining a higher education and we hope that we will be able to help them reach their goals.

New $2.8 Million CTSA Head Start Facility Being Constructed in Shawnee

by Mike Brown

Following a Feb. 4 groundbreaking, the expedited construction of a new $.8 million, $ sq ft. facility for the Central Tribes of the Shawnee Area, Inc. (CTSA) Head Start program is underway in Shawnee, Okla. at 35 N. McKinley Ave.

The Head Start program serves children from newborn to age 5 from low-income and homeless families. Homeless is defined as a family without its own home and is living with family or friends. The program also serves children with disabilities. The previous facility that housed the program had to be demolished due to mold and irreparable damages.

Originally, plans included converting storage buildings into classrooms that are situated on the property. However, tion, the Kickapoo Tribe, and the Absen-CTSA Head Start Executive Director Sherry Marsh applied and received a federal grant, which made possible the new permanent facility that is now under construction.

The new facility is designed by Integrated Architecture, and is being built by DBG Construction, LLC of Oklahoma City with an August target of completion in time for the 29 200 school year. It will include seven classrooms, office space and a commercial kitchen. The main entrance area will serve as a dining area, but will also be used as a "dancing circle" for Native American students. The facility will also include a safety vestibule at its entrance, and parents or guardians will be reqi red to sign-in before entering.

SAUK LANGUAGE DEPARTMENT PHILOSOPHY

Indians are born speaking our languages. For some of us, they lie dormant within our bodies. They are looking for a way out. God gave us these beautiful languages. All of us hold them in a sacred manner within. There is no such thing as an Indian person who cannot speak Indian.

Our language programs find these languages within our bodies. They bring them out through our mouths and deliver them to their rightful resting places within our hearts.

Sac and Fox Nation 'Community Garden' is Growing After Planting Ceremony

by Josh Nooner,D ietitian Black Hawk Health Center

In January 29 the Tobacco Incentive Program (TIP) was awarded a grant through the Southern Plains Tribal Health Board and Oklahoma Area Tribal Epidemiology Center titled, "Good Health and Wellness in Indian Country (GHWIC)." The purpose of the grant is to assist American Indian communities in preventing chronic diseases, such as heart disease, diabetes, stroke, and associated risk factors, in their communities.

Made Possible With TIP Grant Funding

GHWIC addresses the following long-term goals:

• Reduce rates of death and disability from tobacco use by **% ;

• Reduce the prevalence of obesity by 3%; and,

• Reduce rates of death and disability from diabetes, heart disease, and stroke by 3%

Funding from this grant will be used to support the TIP, Black Hawk Health Center's (BHHC) tobacco cessation program, and to construct and maintain a new community garden. The main garden site is located directly east of the BHHC and will be used to grow potatoes, onions, and other fresh produce.

There is a second site located directly west of the business committee office that will only be used to grow traditional Sac and Fox corn. Research shows that community gardens contribute to a healthier lifestyle by:

• Providing fresh, safe, affordable herbs, fruits, and vegetables;

• Helping to relieve stress and increase sense of wellness;

• Getting people active, which improves overall physical health;

• Providing social opportunities that build a sense of community and belonging;

• Providing opportunities to learn and share knowledge on gardening, nature, and cooking;

• Reducing food insecurity by providing better access to fresh foods;

• Reducing pollution by lowering the "food miles" reqi red to transport food; and,

• Lowering crime rates by strengthening community ties. A major goal of the community garden project is to unite together tribal elders and youth in order to pass on knowledge of traditional gardening, cultivating, and food preparation methods to the younger generation. The garden will aid in cultural preservation and benefit the community as a whole.

Additionally, the community garden will be incorporated into many current programs at Sac and Fox including the tobacco cessation program, cooking classes, nutrition education, exercise program, language program, and the Unity youth program.

We are very excited and looking forward to the success of this project for the Sac and Fox Nation. We want to encourage all community members to become involved, whether it is by helping with planting seeds, maintaining the garden, or by providing education over traditional gardening or cooking techniqe s.

Anyone who is interested in being a part of this project is invited to join us for our community kickoff event. We will have prayer and a blessing over the grounds shortly before planting the seeds. The exact date and time of the kickoff event will be announced in early April, depending on weather conditions. Once a week, we will have a garden tending day, date and time to be determined. For more information please contact DeAnna Densman at 9 9 k xt. 36

Riparian Zone, The Answer To: "Why Has My Shoreline Not Been Mowed?"

by Dale Miller, Water Qal ity Sp cialist Sac and Fox Nation

Office of Environmental Services Protecting our waterways is part of protecting our future. The best way to protect our future water is to prevent pollution from entering into it. Prevention of the issue is much easier and less expensive than clean-up afterwards. Lakes, ponds, rivers, and stream have a natural barrier to pollutants entering called a Riparian Zone.

A Riparian Zone consists of trees, shrubs, plants, and grasses. These natural barriers work together to stop and filter out pollutants before they enter into the water body. Now, these plants are not manicured and cut like a golf course. They must be allowed to grow and naturally spread creating a filtering barrier.

A healthy Riparian Zone will help to protect the waterway from erosion, drought, excess flow damage, and even provide cover for aqa tic species to grow and thrive. The Riparian Zone will extent several feet from the shoreline to better catch pollutants as they try to enter the water body.

The pollutants, which can be anything from trash, to excess lawn fertilizer, are blocked or filtered by these plants. These pollutants can either be used by the plants in the Riparian Zone, such as the excess fertilizer, or in the case of garbage, more easily cleaned up by us. It's a whole lot easier to remove trash caught in the grass or shrub, than it is from the bottom of a lake.

This prevention of the pollutant actually entering the water system can improve the qa lity of the water body for everyone and everything. Although the area by a lake or stream may appear overgrown and not taken care of, in actuality, it is much healthier for the water body and us. So, the next time you are at the lake and you see the shoreline area hasn't been mowed and trimmed, understand it's to protect the future water and us.

Tax Liability Notification

What are the withholding requirements for distributions that are made per a Revenue Allocation Plan (RAP)? The first step is to identify the source of funds used for the distribution. Unless the source of funds is specifically exempt from taxation, the amounts that make up the distributions to tribal members are taxable.

Which funds get reported on Form 1099-Misc? Distributions could be derived from many sources, including the profits from a tribal business other than a Class II or Class III gaming operation, interest income on investments, or rental payments from tribal lands. All these payments require a tribe to prepare a Form 1099-MISC

NOTICE

Why does a W-9 needed to be submitted yearly?

If a tribal member receives income that is taxable, a 1099 must be issued for Tax Purposes. The W-9 also serves as a yearly address update.

Can the allotted minor payment be refused in order to have the entire per capita payment be deposited in trust? Yes, but in order to do so we must still receive a W-9 for the same reasons stated above. We would also need a written statement to that effect to be included with the W-9. •

When does a person receive a Form 1099-Misc, Statement for Recipients of Miscellaneous Income? If a person receives $600 or more in 1 calendar year from the same source. that amount must be reported on a Form 1099, and that Form 1099-Misc. must be provided to the individual.

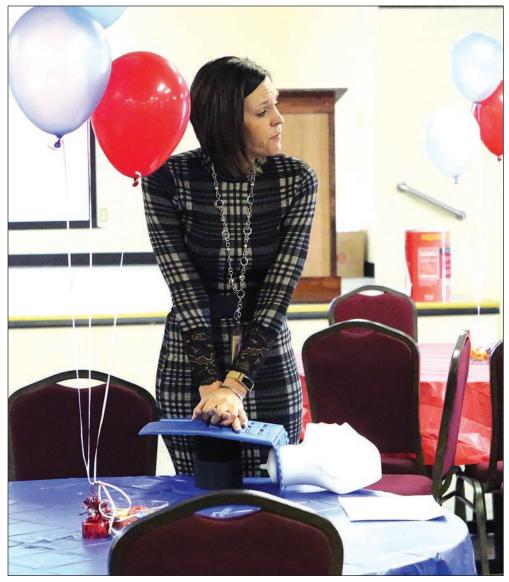

It is only the amount distributed from NET GAMING REVENUE that is subject to withholding. The Internal Revenue Code provides that "Every person, including an Indian tribe, making a payment to a member of an Indian tribe from the net revenues of any Class II or Class III gaming activity conducted or licensed by such tribe, shall deduct and withhold from such payment a tax in an amount equal to such payment's proportionate share of the annualized tax." The amount to withhold is provided in Withholding Tables found in IRS Publication 15-A, Employer's Supplemental Tax Guide.

If the Indian tribe anticipates making a distribution of any kind, the Indian tribe needs the tribal members' Social Security number before the distribution is made. If an Indian tribe does not know a tribal member's Social Security number at the time of distribution, the distribution is subject to "backup withholding" (at 28% in 2009). In April 29 Meskwaki poet, Ray Young Bear, will have his poetry and prose featured in two publications, 'The Iowa Review' and 'Native Voices: Indigenous American Poetry, Craft and Conversations.'

At 68 years of age, Young Bear, who has been writing creatively for half a century, writes, "It's a rarity for seven poems, including an essay, to be published during the same month. So, there's lots of anticipation, all good.

For his third appearance in The Iowa Review, two contemporary, English language poems are represented. For the Tupelo Press anthology, there are three contemporary poems and two Meskwaki word-songs, including a new essay on the influences of tribal culture and modern literature."

The essay, "The Summer of 9 Children of Speakthunder," reflects upon a time when he attended a writer's workshop, in Bemidji, Minnesota. "I was just but by then the process of seeing 8 handwritten words morph to a page, in a book or magazine, was fascinating." It was at this workshop where Robert Bly, a teacher and poet, introduced Young Bear to the poetry of James Welch, a Native American. "On a campus sidewalk one day," he shares in an essay excerpt, "Robert Bly stopped me. 'Young Bear, I've got some poems you should read.' He handed over a paperback called the New American Review. 'You can have it while you're here.' He then asked if I ever heard of James Welch. When I said no, I learned Welch was a Blackfeet from Montana, with several poems in the paperback. "As Bly spoke in glowing terms, gesturing as if his hands could read, I scanned 'In my Lifetime.' Smitten by its structure and clarity, I became an instant fan. It was short of a divination. All of what I imagined, at 18 as being creatively possible in tribal-based poetry, if only I could mature qi ckly and write as well, had been done." With six books published since Ø Young Bear's latest collection, Manifestation Wolverine, received the American Book Award from The Before Columbus His bilingual po-Foundation, in 26 ems and songs were published recently in The New Yorker, in 26 and 20 Young Bear lives with his family on the Meskwaki Settlement, near "Jean Seberg County," Iowa, where he's composing new fiction and word-songs.

24 Tribes Hold VA Disability Enrollment Events

In February of last year, the United States Dept. of Veterans Affairs (VA) was getting ready to launch a nationwide campaign to roll out veteran disability enrollment claim events with 24 tribal communities. The campaign, "Your Service. Our Mission: Bringing Benefits Home," kicked off March 200 and wrapped up with a total of 32 events spanning 11 states.

One of the most significant highlights was the amount of VA benefits approved for tribal veterans who may not have otherwise received VA benefits due to the rural geographical location of the tribal community. More than ,0 veterans participated and submitted 30 claims. One tribal veteran's compensation tripled while another received a check for $00 n back pay.

"Our main focus was to work with tribal governments to encourage and assist veterans across Indian Country to come and apply for the benefits they earned through their military service," said Stephanie Birdwell, director, VA's Office of Tribal Government Relations. "This helps VA enhance and improve the experience for all veterans and their families." Birdwell is qi ck to point out that the presumptive condition campaign would not have been successful without the support of VA's Benefits Assistance Service, VBA Regional Office leadership and staff, State Departments of Veterans Affairs, and national Veteran Service Organizations. VA benefits staff, service officers, and health care personnel were on hand at each event to review claims on the spot, with the goal of completing the claim same day.

"VA's Benefits Assistance Service worked closely with tribal government leaders to roll out these claims events," said Mike Frueh, executive director, VA's Benefits Assistance Service. "We focused on veterans and their widows with presumptive disabilities, in addition to those who are pension eligible.

"Many tribal veterans and families may not realize VA presumes that certain medical conditions are related to military service, although these conditions may first appear after discharge," said Frueh. "In addition, a spouse may be eligible for certain benefits when a veteran dies as a result of what VA calls presumptive disabilities." VA reached out to more than $\boldsymbol{\vartheta}$ tribes with announcements about the campaign and an offer to host an event.

"While we initially had interest from 20 tribes, word spread and tribes saw the tremendous benefit of the events," said Birdwell. "In the end, we were able to reach 24 tribal communities, with some reqe sting multiple events in different locations to reach more people." Hosted by VA and the Navajo Nation, Indian Country's first presumptive claims event took place last March at the communities of Many Farms and Cottonwood/Tselani, Ariz. During this twoday outreach event, 8 participants were assisted and 49 claims for benefits were processed by VA employees. "As an outreach specialist, I always enjoy getting out of the office and working directly with the veterans we serve," said Monica Cabrera, public affairs officer, Phoenix VA Regional Office. "Having the opportunity at Many Farms and Cottonwood was rewarding for me emotionally and professionally. Veterans have contributed significantly to the economic sustainability of Indian Country, and I hope they left the event knowing how appreciative we are for their service." VA worked alongside the following tribal communities to host Presumptive Condition events: Copper River Native Association (Alaska); Native Village of White Mountain (Alaska); Tule River Tribe (Calif.); Walker River Paiute Tribe (Nevada); Siletz Tribe (Oregon); Nooksack Indian Tribe (Washington); Bay Mills Indian Community (Michigan); White Earth Nation (Minnesota); Red Cliff Band of Lake Superior Chippewa Indians (Wisconsin); Osage Nation (Okla.); Seminole Nation of Oklahoma (Okla.); Eastern Shawnee Tribe (Okla.); Choctaw Nation of Oklahoma (Okla.); Kiowa Tribe (Okla.); Kewa Pueblo (N.M.); Pasqui Yaqui Tribe (Ariz.); Tohono O'odham Nation (Ariz.); San Carlos Apache (Ariz.); Navajo Nation (Ariz.); White Mountain Apache Tribe (Ariz.); Pueblo of Pojoaque (N.M); and Taos Pueblo (N.M.). Planning is underway to hold more claims events across Indian Country in 29

Raised-Bed Gardening Has Many Benefits

by Trisha Gedon OSU Extension Services What exactly is a raised bed garden? It is a garden area that is elevated anywhere from a few inches up to 2 or 3 feet above the soil level. It can be as simple as a rectangular plateau of soil or a more elaborate bed framed in sturdy material.

Not only can it add visual interest to your landscape, raised bed gardens also have several other benefits, said David Hillock, Oklahoma State University Cooperative Extension consumer horticulturist.

"Gardeners tend to reap higher yields due to raised beds allowing more garden space for growing plants. Also, you'll have better soil since amendments and fertilizer are applied only to the growing area," he said. "There's little need to rototill, and the soil drains better. As an added bonus, plants grown close together will shade the soil, which decreases evaporation and keeps roots cooler. You'll water only the beds, not the walkways, which in turn also decreases water use."

Avid gardeners usually are itching to get to work in the landscape and raised beds can get you outside a bit earlier in the season. Soil in raised beds can be worked earlier in the year because it warms up faster than soil in traditional in-ground gardens.

In addition, rainy weather is less of a deterrent for working in the garden because mud likely would not be an issue. Another benefit is plants planted closely together in a raised bed help keep weeds crowded out. Consider covering pathways between the raised bed with landscape fabric to choke out weeds in those areas.

ShC & FOF

Something gardeners hate to see is a garden damaged by pests. Raised beds are very easy to cover with insect screening fabric. Rotation of crops also is easier, which helps prevent buildup of pests. Hillock said raised bed gardens also are great for individuals with physical limitations. "If built tall enough, they eliminate the need of weeding on your knees, as well as making harvest easier," he said. "Raised beds can be accessed from all open sides, which is great for gardeners who may use assistive walking devices." While a raised bed can be any shape you can imagine, it's recommended not to exceed 4 feet wide. This helps ensure gardeners can reach to the back side of the bed if it's adjacent to a structure. Gardeners who would like to incorporate raised beds into their landscape should take some things into consideration. For best light exposure, build beds in a north/south orientation. Make sure paths between beds are wide enough to walk comfortably, push a wheelbarrow or accommodate an assistive walking device or wheelchair. Before beginning construction, stake out the beds and walk through them to make sure it is a workable arrangement. Decide whether an unframed or framed bed best suits your needs. For an unframed bed, eliminate weeds and turf from the area, then dig a furrow on both sides of the area and pull up the soil around the edges to create a mound. If building out of wood or other hard materials, level the area and put the basic frame in place before preparing the soil. Materials can include treated lumber or landscape timbers, concrete blocks, rocks or bricks, snap-together plastic blocks, hay bales or even recycled materials. "Be creative with your materials for the beds and the plants you select. Raised beds are a great way to add visual interest and texture into your landscape," Hillock said.

technology. "Having all the pilot plant eqi pment under our roof was beneficial to do the formulations and make the prototype products," McGlynn said. "The team took advantage of testing eqi pment and sensory evaluations in house as well."

Reformulations of the product were completed at FAPC but locating a facility with the proper allergen permissions and appropriate eqi pment to form the snack-size bites was a challenge. Cerreta Candy Co. in Glendale, Arizona, was able to give access to its facility for pilot runs of the product where the individually wrapped peanut butter bite samples were produced. "In its current state, peanut butter is less convenient to eat than many other ready-to-eat products," Bellmer said. "Once it is made into a snackable form, its consumption will likely increase." Nutritional and convenient snacks continue to climb the trends list in the food industry making the bitesize peanut butter snacks' debut timely. "People want a snack that they can eat on the go," Bellmer said. "These peanut butter snacks can be eaten while students walk to class or as gym-goers head to their workouts." The bite-size peanut butter snacks also have additional protein supplements and provide controlled portions for snackers to enjoy. Each bite is made up of $\boldsymbol{\Theta}$ percent peanut butter with added pea protein and peanut flour to make them higher in protein. "You automatically have a defined and discrete portion that is prepared and ready to go," McGlynn said. "No longer do you have to measure out each scoop to ensure you're getting correct amounts of protein; we've done that for you." The commercialization of the bite-size snacks would benefit FAPC, OSU and the entire state of Oklahoma, Bellmer said. "Peanut butter is a staple in the American diet with more than a million dollars in annual sales, and peanuts are an important crop in the state of Oklahoma," she said. "Capitalizing on the popular crop gives us the opportunity to expand the peanut industry in Oklahoma, creating more jobs and revenue for the state." After three years of development, the team is searching for partners but has had "no big bites as of now," McGlynn said. "There are various avenues we can pursue, but ultimately, we hope you will see the bites on store shelves in the future," he said.
