EPA Official Commends OES Director for Safe Water Pilot Program

by Mike Brown

David Gray, who serves as deputy administrator of the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency's (EPA) South Central Region 6, headquartered in

During Visit to Discuss New Lead, Copper Rule

Dallas, Texas, met with Sac and Fox Nation Business Committee members and others in an

Oct. 10 special meeting held in the Sac and Fox Nation Cultural Center.

EPA's South Central Region 6 includes Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana, New Mexico, Texas and 66 tribal nations situated among those states.

The visit was in conjunction with the EPA's observation of 'Children's Health Month' during October, in which the agency highlighted programs that state and local partners can use to protect children. Gray commended the Sac and Fox Nation, and particularly Offices of Environmental Services (OES) Director Jeremy Fincher for taking part, beginning in May 2018, in a voluntary EPA pilot program titled, 'Three T's' for reducing lead in drinking water in schools and child care facilities. The Three T's refers to: training, testing and taking action.

"I am here to congratulate the Sac and Fox Nation. You are already leading in this arena by participating in the Three T's pilot program," Gray said to Fincher and the Nation's elected officials. "The Sac and Fox Nation was among the first tribes to partner with the EPA. All of your systems are safe for children, and you lead the way in Oklahoma and across the nation," he added

As part of the Three T's pilot program, series of water samples were collected at the Sac and Fox Nation Juvenile Detention Center and the CTSA Head Start Yellow Earth Learning Center. After tests indicated trace amounts of lead in the water samples, measures were taken to eliminate the lead sources by removing or replacing aerators and certain plumbing fixtures.

OU Library to Open 'Native Voices Over the Airwaves' Exhibit Nov. 14

The University of Oklahoma Libraries will open 'Native Voices Over the Airwaves: The Indians for Indians Hour Radio Show' Nov. 14 in Bizzell Memorial Library, 401 W. Brooks St. in Norman, Okla. Opening events include a reception at 2:30 p.m. in the library, followed by a 7 p.m. performance inspired by the radio show at Catlett Music Center, 500 W. Boyd St., as a part of the OU School of Music's Ruggles Native American Music Series.

Broadcast over OU's WNAD radio station, the 'Indians for Indians' program aired from 1941 through the mid-1970s. The show was created and originally hosted by Don Whistler, chief of the Sac and Fox tribe, and continued by OU's Sequoyah Indian Club.

"The Indians for Indians Hour was a vibrant blend of Native music and speech on an incredible array of topics, including community life, military service, religion, education and advocacy for Native rights," exhibit curator Lina Ortega said. "It represents an incredible snapshot of U.S. history as told through Native American experience. This exhibition is a way to bring together campus and statewide communities to explore Oklahoma and U.S. history through Native voices and to

The Late Sac and Fox Nation Principal Chief Don Whistler

Chief Justin Freeland Wood's Address to the Nation

I hope you have enjoyed the change of weather as much as my family has. While the transition of seasons is uplifting, I find it appropriate to offer my prayers and heartfelt condolences to those families who have lost loved ones this past year. We are a Nation in mourning with too many lost members of the Sac And Fox Nation family.

I have been able to visit with many of you and I find it encouraging just how much hope is within your hearts. A great example of this hope is our own Second Chief, Don Abney. Don lost his wife, Mary, just a few days after taking office. He is an amazing example of strength and integrity while dealing with his grief. I appreciate his willingness to serve through it all.

I hope you consider taking the time to reach out to our fellow tribal members and check in to ask how they are doing and how we can help each other heal through this time.

As I am sure you have heard by now, I have called a November 9th Special Governing Council to approve the RAP Distributions for fiscal year 2020. We will also be approving our 2019 Per Capita payments.

While this is later than recent years it allows us to fine tune the process for the years to come and is still more than a month prior to our December 17th deadline for processing. We are making adjustments to how we collect the revenue from our casinos which will ensure the money is on hand sooner and available for a more expedient RAP Council in 2020.

From 2020 forward, it is my goal to have our revenues approved in early October and on a set and reliable schedule annually. I am aware of the necessity of these payments and services. We will not rest until our service to tribal members is exceeding all of our expectations.

I appreciate those of you who have taken the time to stop in and visit over the past several months. We have a real opportunity to grow our infrastructure and footprint within our jurisdiction. (Continued on Page 5)

‘Native Voices’ Exhibit to Open

promote this collection as a resource for scholarship and cultural revitalization.”

The reception at 2:30 p.m. will include remarks by Sac and Fox Principal Chief Justin F. Wood as well as by Donna Williams, who is a granddaughter of Chief Whistler. The 7 p.m. performance will be an inter-tribal tribute to the Indians for Indians show, with most of the performers being descendants of participants on the radio show.

“The diversity of music and tribes represented ties in well with the OU School of Music’s Ruggles Native American Music series, which highlights Native American music and dance,” Ortega said. The exhibition’s opening events are co-sponsored by OU Libraries, the School of Music in the OU Weitzenhoffer College of Fine Arts, the Native American Studies Department in the OU College of Arts and Sciences and the Native Nations Center.

OU Libraries received a grant from the Council on Library and Information Resources to digitize 200 hours of the radio program on 152 open-reel tapes held in their Western History Collections.

The CLIR Recordings at Risk preservation grant enables the University Libraries to preserve these important recordings and to make them available online, with much improved audio quality through the expert digitization by the Northeast Document Conservation Center.

These files will be accessible through the libraries website at: repository.ou.edu by Nov. 14. A related exhibition, The Indians for Indians Radio Show: Sports and Recreation, is on display now through Jan. 30, 2020, in the Western History Collections Reading Room, room 300 of Monnet Hall, 630 Parrington Oval.

Native Voices over the Airwaves will remain on display in Bizzell through Aug. 3, 2020. More information about both exhibits, as well as information regarding exhibition programming, can be found at exhibits.libraries.ou.edu

EPA Officials Visit SFN

In May of this year, Fincher spoke on the experience with the Three T’s program at the EPA’s Office of Research and Development Small Water System meeting in Dallas, Texas. He continues to work with the EPA on developing best practices, educating other tribes about the program, and other lead reduction research.

Gray noted significant lead contamination in water supplies in Flint, Mich. and other locations that prompted a nationwide EPA effort to eliminate lead and copper in school drinking water. While celebrating the successful Three T’s pilot project, Gray highlighted key elements of an EPA new, revised lead and copper rule pertaining to drinking water.

Those key elements include: Identifying impacted areas and making the public information available to communities; Requiring the replacement of lead service lines to the water meter and to the home; a notification system and required testing at all day care facilities and schools.

Gray said EPA is implementing the new, revised lead and copper rule to better ensure “lead-free and safe drinking water for children.”

During his over-30-year career at EPA, Gray has gained extensive experience in overseeing crisis communication programs during the EPA response to Hurricane Katrina, Deep Water Horizon and most recently, Hurricane Harvey. Accompanying him to the meeting were Meaghan K. Bresnahan, who serves as Region 6 tribal drinking water manager of the Safe Drinking Water Branch in Dallas Texas; and, Curtis Hicks, who serves as project officer and tribal liaison, at Robert S. Kerr Research Center in Ada, Okla.

“It was an honor to host EPA Deputy Administrator David Gray and his team at our Capitol Complex. During our press conference the Sac and Fox Nation was again highlighted for going above and beyond expectations. Protecting our people is our greatest priority and it was again affirmed,” stated Principal Chief Justin F. Wood.

Quitting smoking improves health immediately and over the long term – at any age. Stopping smoking is hard, but you can increase your chances of success with help. Getting help through counseling and medications doubles or even triples your chances of quitting successfully (cancer.org).

Did You Know?

Cigarette smoking is more common among American Indian/Alaska Native (AI/AN) adults than most other racial/ethnic groups in the United States. Although cigarette smoking prevalence in the general population has declined in recent years, prevalence among the AI/AN population remains high.

In 2017, almost 1 in 4 (24.0%) AI/AN adults in the United States smoked cigarettes, compared with about 1 in 7 (14%) U.S. adults overall.

According to the Centers for Disease Control, “Most smokers want to quit. They don’t want to suffer or be a burden on their families,” said Corinne Graf-funder, DrPH, MPH, director of CDC’s Office on Smoking and Health. Most of us know the common impacts of smoking, from heart disease, COPD, asthma, cancers and much more, including anxiety and depression.

However, much of the time we don’t think about the impact. For more information about the Tips campaign and resources for quitting smoking, visit CDC.gov/tips. For help quitting, call

1-800-QUIT-NOW (1-800-784-8669).

What You Can Do:

- (1) Be aware of the impacts of smoking
- (2) Consider that help is available, we do have groups and counseling available.
- (3) Act. We encourage you and for you to encourage your loved one to get help.

We are here to help. For more information, contact the Behavioral Health Department, educational and counseling services are available to assist in prevention and treatment.

SAUK LANGUAGE DEPARTMENT PHILOSOPHY

Indians are born speaking our languages. For some of us, they lie dormant within our bodies. They are looking for a way out. God gave us these beautiful languages. All of us hold them in a sacred manner within. There is no such thing as an Indian person who cannot speak Indian.

Our language programs find these languages within our bodies. They bring them out through our mouths and deliver them to their rightful resting places within our hearts.

NATIVE AMERICAN 2019 QUOTES

Children learn from what they see. We need to set an example of truth and action.

Howard Rainer, Taos-Pueblo, Creek

Seek wisdom, not knowledge. Knowledge is of the past and wisdom is of the future.

Lumbee Tribe

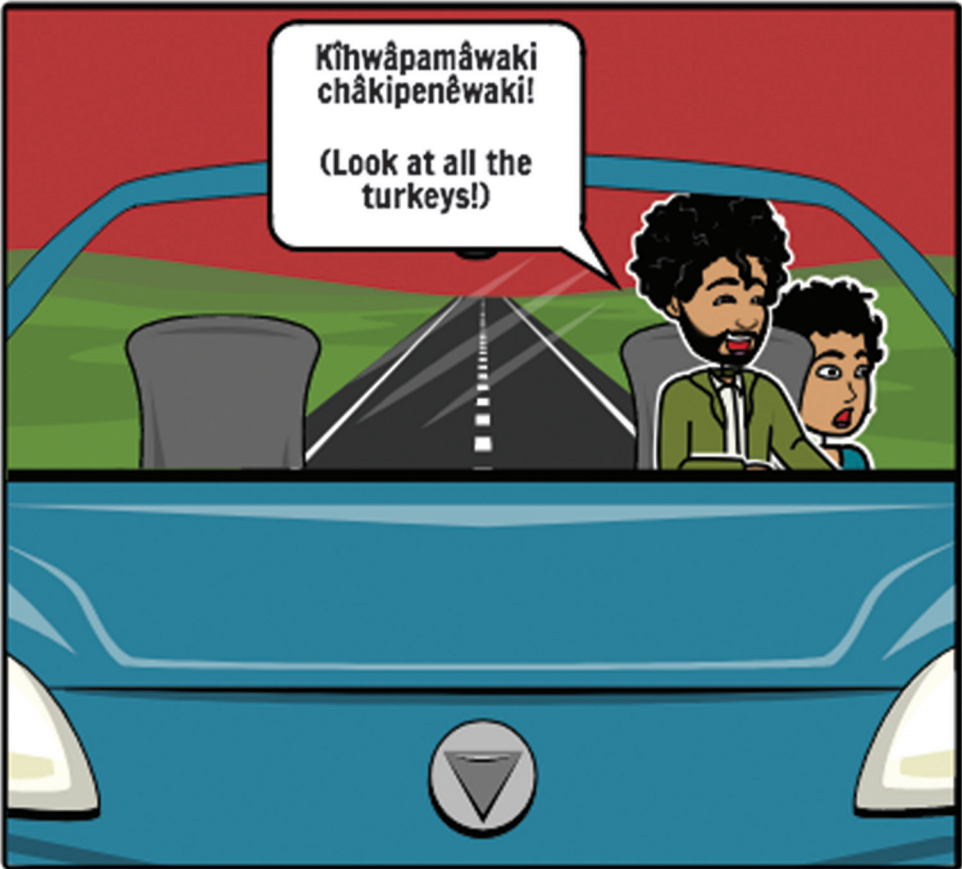

A good chief gives, he does not take.

Growing Demand in China Dominates Global Beef Trade

*by Donald Stotts
Agricultural Communications Services
Oklahoma State University*

America’s trade war with China has been of concern to many agricultural producers, agribusiness operators and economic analysts, and that includes those with the U.S. beef industry, where increasing U.S. market share in China has been a goal.

“Simply put, China has replaced the United States as the leading beef importer in the world,” said Derrell Peel, Oklahoma State University Cooperative Extension livestock marketing specialist. “Chinese beef imports in 2018 exceeded total U.S. beef imports. If the semi-autonomous city of Hong Kong is included along with mainland China, their total imports were larger beginning in 2017.”

Total world beef imports have increased by 17.7 percent in the five years from 2015 to projected 2019 totals. During that period, beef imports in China increased 153.4 percent along with a 62.2 percent increase in beef imports into Hong Kong, leading to a 122.6 percent increase in beef imports in the region. In contrast, total beef imports into the United States decreased by an estimated 12.3 percent for the 2015-2019 period.

Peel said increased beef imports into China alone accounted for more than 75 percent of the net increase in total world imports for this period. China accounted for 8.7 percent of world beef imports in 2015. Including Hong Kong brought the 2015 share to 13.1 percent. Total U.S. beef imports in 2015 accounted for 20 percent of global beef imports.

“Projections for 2019 show China importing 18.7 percent of global beef imports along with another 6.1 percent of imports into Hong Kong,” Peel said. “This means the region currently accounts for a 24.8 percent share of world beef imports. U.S. beef imports are projected to account for 14.9 percent of world beef imports in 2019.”

The rapid growth in Chinese beef imports has dramatically altered global beef flows with several countries now exporting a significant share of total exports to China. A majority of beef imports from Brazil, Uruguay, Argentina, Australia and New Zealand go to China. “Number one beef exporter Brazil currently ships about 22 percent of total exports to China and accounts for 31 percent of total Chinese beef imports,” Peel said. “Brazil sends another 17 percent of beef exports to Hong Kong.”

Uruguay is the world’s eighth-largest beef exporting country but sends about 70 of its exports to China and accounts for 21 percent of Chinese beef imports. Argentina, the world’s sixth-largest beef exporting country sends about 65 percent of total beef exports to the China and Hong Kong. Argentina accounts for 17 percent of Chinese beef imports.

The world’s second-largest beef exporter, Australia, ships 16 percent of its total beef exports to China, accounting for 17 percent of Chinese beef imports. New Zealand, the world’s fifth-leading beef exporter, sends 26 percent of total exports to China and accounts for 11 percent of total beef imports into the country.

“Notably absent are North American beef exporters,” Peel said. “About 2 percent of Canadian beef exports move to China while China accounts for less than 1 percent of U.S. and Mexican beef exports. Hong Kong is an important export market for Canada, 6 percent; the United States, 10 percent; and Mexico, 4 percent. Numerous factors account for the lack of U.S. market share in China. Despite receiving access to the Chinese market in 2017, U.S. beef exports have shown almost no growth. This has been partly caused by the need to develop markets in China for higher quality, more expensive U.S. beef.

Peel said beef market analysts recognized this was always going to be a lengthy endeavor, even before the process was interrupted by the current trade war between the United States and China, with the additional tariffs on American beef put in place by the Chinese government.

“Chinese restrictions on production technology allowed in beef exported to China – the use of implants, beta agonists and such – mean the supply of U.S. beef available for the Chinese market is limited,” Peel said. “The United States is currently caught in a chicken-and-egg situation of not having much supply for the Chinese market and not having enough market potential to warrant increased U.S. production to meet Chinese demand.” Still, Peel contends it is important for the United States to participate in the growing Chinese beef market. At current levels, if the United States could achieve a 10 percent market share of Chinese beef imports, it would add more than 11 percent to total U.S. beef exports, which would be good news for America’s beef industry.

CDC Investigating Lung Illnesses

E-cigarettes have been touted as a safer alternative to smoking, but that claim is under fire as vaping has been directly linked to an epidemic of unexplained lung illness cases across the country.

As of Oct. 1, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention have confirmed more than 800 instances of lung illness and 14 deaths nationwide. Every case has been linked to a history of vaping.

“What makes this particularly frightening is that this lung illness is new,” said Oklahoma Medical Research Foundation immunologist Hal Scofield, M.D. “We know very little about this respiratory illness or exactly what is causing it. It has never been seen from cigarette use, ever.”

Patients have reported symptoms such as coughing, chest pains, shortness of breath, fever and nausea, among others. In some, symptoms developed over several weeks. In others, they manifested in a matter of days. Last month, an 18-year-old male in Illinois was hospitalized and doctors told him his lungs were similar to those of a person in their 70s. The exact cause of the mystery illness has yet to be identified.

The CDC activated its emergency operations center to investigate, while the Food and Drug Administration has launched a criminal investigation into the matter. The Trump administration has also announced plans for a major vaping crackdown. Several states have now banned sales of fruit-flavored vape products. “For years, people have thought vaping is safer than smoking because there are no known consequences. But the unknown is part of the problem, because we do not know the long-term effects,” said Scofield. According to a recent study in the New England Journal of Medicine, one in four high school seniors report having vaped within the past month, and e-cigarette use across all middle and high-school aged teens is on the rise.

The CDC recommends stopping e-cigarette use until it learns more about the recent health problems, but particularly to stay away from black market or homemade vapes that have no regulations or testing. “People need to remember that ‘safer’ doesn’t mean ‘safe,’” said Chakravarty. “For all we know, 50 years from now we may look at vaping the same way we do smoking. What we don’t know really can hurt us.”

Health During the Holidays

The holidays are packed with feasts of signature recipes, traditional foods, and many sweets prepared in endless quantities for enjoying at school, work, and home. Temptations are everywhere, and parties and travel disrupt daily routines. How do you stick to your diabetes meal plan when everyone around you seems to be splurging?

Managing your diabetes continues during the holidays, but should not limit your ability to have fun and enjoy the festivities. Here are some tips to help you manage your glucose with all the delicious food.

1. Don’t skip meals to save up for a feast. It will be harder to keep your blood sugar in control, and you’ll be really hungry and more likely to overeat.
2. Create a small plate of your favorite foods, and move throughout the party to socialize, away from the buffet.
3. Choose naturally sweetened foods, like fruits, to satisfy your sweet tooth after leaving the holiday party, instead of indulging in the leftover scrumptious pumpkin cheesecake.
4. Eat close to your usual times to keep your blood sugar steady. If your meal is served later than normal, eat a small snack at your usual mealtime and eat a little less when dinner is served.
5. Invited to a party? Offer to bring a healthy dish along.
6. Avoid or limit alcohol. If you do have an alcoholic drink, have it with food. Alcohol can lower blood sugar and interact with diabetes medicines.
7. If you have sweets, cut back on other carbs (like potatoes and bread) during the meal.
8. Keep overindulging at bay by avoiding thinking, “I have already ruined my blood glucose with this party, so I will continue to eat all these chocolate candies.”
9. If you do slip up, get right back to healthy eating with your next meal.
10. No food is on the naughty list. Choose the dishes you really love and can’t get any other time of year, like your Aunt’s pumpkin pie. Slow down and savor one small serving, and make sure to count it in your meal plan.
11. Eat slowly. It takes at least 20 minutes for your brain to realize you’re full.
12. Being active is your secret holiday weapon; it can help make up for eating more than usual and reduce stress during this most stressful time of year.

Most of all, remember what the season is about—celebrating and connecting with the people you care about. When you focus more on the fun, it’s easier to focus less on the food.

Two Tribal Members Receive AARP Elder Honors

tions share a belief in the importance of our elders,” said Chief Wood.

“They are our leaders and warriors, historians, parents, grandparents, aunts and uncles. Our elders hold the key to our past and the solutions to our future. I’m so proud of our two new Sac and Fox honorees. They join a prestigious list of past Sauk honorees that, I’m sure, will only grow in the years ahead,” Chief Wood added.

Honorees were presented medallions by Joe Ann Vermillion, AARP State President; Dr. Catherine Alicia Georges, AARP National Volunteer President; and, Mashell Sourjohn, AARP Oklahoma Associate State Director of Outreach.

Past Indian Elder Honorees from the Sac and Fox Nation include: Peggy Acoya, Judy Crain Baggett, Mary Ellis, Emerson Falls, Keith Franklin, Mary F. McCormick, Stella M. Nullake-Nanaeto, Lena (Ellis) Pennock Clark, Elizabeth Kay Rhoads, John R. (Jack) Thorpe, William Thorpe, Stella Wilson, and Freeland Wood.

Henry Buck McClellan Sr. is a two-time world champion Fancy Dancer. He travels throughout the country representing the Sac and Fox nation in the Golden Age Fancy Dance category. He is also considered a master bustle maker, and loves sharing his expertise with younger dancers. He encourages them by telling the history of the Fancy Dance, as well as, the significance and meaning of each piece of the regalia.

McClellan makes sets of bustles and gifts them to young dancers to encourage the next generation to keep the tradition alive. He is a member of the Native American Church, where he can be found praying for and with others, and singing Sac and Fox Native American church songs. Through his actions, McClellan preserves native culture and traditions he holds dear.

Wallace ‘Bud’ McClellan is a direct descendant of Black Hawk of the Thunder Clan, and he carries the name, ‘Muk a to Me cli Ka Kaak,’ which is Black Sparrow Hawk. McClellan’s desire to serve led him to enlist in the U.S. Army, where he would remain for nine years. He was stationed in Korea, France, Germany, Japan and Taiwan as a microwave radio technician.

Upon returning to civilian life, McClellan attended night school for six years, and earned a bachelor’s degree from San Jose State University. After six years of postgraduate study, McClellan earned a master’s degree. Throughout his studies, he continued working and served as a volunteer teacher of GED classes at the San Jose Indian Center. Upon graduation, he was a high school teacher, and later returned to a career in electronics.

In 1988, McClellan moved back to his homeland in Oklahoma. Initially, he used his skills as a historical researcher and archivist in the Sac and Fox National Public Library. He also became familiar with the ceremonial life and cycles of the Nation. He learned to be a ‘memicli,’ or a ceremonial helper. The first rule of having a Sac and Fox name, or carrying its tribal tobacco has always been: “When they make the fire, you be there to help.”

McClellan is faithful to this ancient axiom. He is always present, willing to take his place and learn more duties and responsibilities. He is also a charter member and officer of the Sac and Fox Color Guard, and has served as secretary and treasurer for more than a decade. For the past fifteen years, McClellan has been seated in the position of the Thunder Clan Chief of the Sac and Fox Nation. He presides over all activities of the Thunder Clan, including funerals, the naming of children and spring ceremonies.

More than 900 people were in attendance as 52 distinguished elders were honored at the AARP Oklahoma 11th annual Indian Elder Honors celebration.

“AARP Oklahoma Indian Elder honorees represent what is best about Native American people - a love of family, dedication to culture and respect for all people. The 2019 group of esteemed elders joined an impressive fraternity of 550 past honorees from 39 tribal nations,” said AARP Oklahoma State Director Sean Voskuhl.

“This event celebrates a lifetime of service from these distinguished elders who have positively impacted their community, family, tribe and nation. For some, their service is well-known and well-documented, but others shy away from recognition as they quietly exhibit devotion to their communities,” Voskuhl added. Voskuhl also noted that AARP Oklahoma continues to expand its work on issues affecting Native Americans, particularly working to address health disparities, transportation needs and cultural preservation.

AARP National Volunteer President Dr. Catherine Alicia Georges said, “We look with great respect at the way the Native American community views and treats elders, the deep appreciation you have their experience and wisdom, your reverence for tradition, and the strong and enduring connections you build among different generations.”

Also at the event, well-known actor Wes Studi, was awarded the Dr. John Edwards Memorial Leadership Award. Studi starred in “Dances With Wolves” and went on to appear in more than 40 films.

A Sincere Thank You

Tribal Members,

In the recent passing of my mate after 53 years, I want to express my heartfelt thanks to our Nation and every individual in it for their concern and help.

Our children were a tremendous help. All of the prayers offered were a tremendous blessing to me and my children.

Thank you again, and may God bless each member and all of her friends for their efforts to help.

2019 PER CAPITA PAYMENT INFORMATION

- Individual must be enrolled by September 30, 2019 to be eligible for the 2019 per capita payment.
 - Tribal members will need to submit a W9 to the Finance Department for the upcoming 2019 Per Capita Payment.
 - Once a W-9 form is received, it will be updated into our system and all payments due will be made at a time of disbursement.
 - If an individual is a NEW tribal member, or has had a NAME CHANGE, a copy of Social Security card is needed for our records.
 - There is NO deadline on submitting a W9. All checks will be mailed, no exceptions.
 - The IRS 1099 form will be mailed by January 31, 2020.
- NEW MINORS . . . PLEASE SEND COPY OF SOCIAL SECURITY CARD SO WE CAN GET TRUST ACCOUNTS ESTABLISHED

W-9 Form

It is critical that the W-9 Form be completed correctly and thoroughly for each individual tribal member. Be sure to fill out your NAME, MAIL-ING ADDRESS, SOCIAL SECURITY NUMBER, and then SIGN and DATE your form.

Required Legal Documents

If you have had a name change due to marriage, divorce, adoption, etc., it is important the Finance Department has a copy of your social security card. All other legal documents should be sent to the Enrollment Department so their records can be updated. Any guardianship or Power of Attorney documents need to be on file with the Finance Department.

Minors

Parents or guardians are responsible for providing a W-9 for minor children; not doing so could result in the minor’s payment not being deposited into the minor’s trust fund account in a timely manner.

Contact information - Finance Department

For identity/security purposes, a W-9 form will not be accepted by e-mail. Completed forms may be hand delivered, mailed, or faxed.

Tax Liability Notification

What are the withholding requirements for distributions that are made per a Revenue Allocation Plan (RAP)? The first step is to identify the source of funds used for the distribution. Unless the source of funds is specifically exempt from taxation, the amounts that make up the distributions to tribal members are taxable.

Which funds get reported on Form 1099-Misc? Distributions could be derived from many sources, including the profits from a tribal business other than a Class II or Class III gaming operation, interest income on investments, or rental payments from tribal lands. All these payments require a tribe to prepare a Form 1099-MISC

When does a person receive a Form 1099-Misc, Statement for Recipients of Miscellaneous Income? If a person receives $600 or more in 1 calendar year from the same source, that amount must be reported on a Form 1099, and that Form 1099-Misc. must be provided to the individual.

It is only the amount distributed from NET GAMING REVENUE that is subject to withholding. The Internal Revenue Code provides that “Every person, including an Indian tribe, making a payment to a member of an Indian tribe from the net revenues of any Class II or Class III gaming activity conducted or licensed by such tribe, shall deduct and withhold from such payment a tax in an amount equal to such payment’s proportionate share of the annual-ized tax.” The amount to withhold is provided in Withholding Tables found in IRS Publication 15-A, Employer’s Supplemental Tax Guide.

If the Indian tribe anticipates making a distribution of any kind, the Indian tribe needs the tribal members’ Social Security number before the distribution is made. If an Indian tribe does not know a tribal member’s Social Security number at the time of distribution, the distribution is subject to “backup withholding” (at 28% in 2009). (Source: Internal Revenue Service (IRS) Indian Tribal Governments Frequently Asked Questions, Last Reviewed or Updated: April 22, 2013)

Per capita payments could affect any Tribal, Federal, State, and/or Local benefits you may receive or programs in which you participate. The Sac and Fox Nation encourage you to check with your tax accountant or benefit specialist.

NOTICE

Why does a W-9 needed to be submitted yearly?

If a tribal member receives income that is taxable, a 1099 must be issued for Tax Purposes. The W-9 also serves as a yearly address update.

Can the allotted minor payment be refused in order to have the entire per capita payment be deposited in trust? Yes, but in order to do so we must still receive a W-9 for the same reasons stated above. We would also need a written statement to that effect to be included with the W-9.

Part I Taxpayer Identification Number (TIN)

Enter your TIN in the appropriate box. The TIN provided must match the name given on line 1 to avoid backup withholding. For individuals, this is generally your social security number (SSN). However, for a resident alien, sole proprietor, or disregarded entity, see the instructions for Part I, later. For other entities, it is your employer identification number (EIN). If you do not have a number, see How to get a TIN, later.

Note: If the account is in more than one name, see the instructions for line 1. Also see What Name and Number To Give the Requester for guidelines on whose number to enter.

Part II Certification

Under penalties of perjury, I certify that:

1. The number shown on this form is my correct taxpayer identification number (or I am waiting for a number to be issued to me); and

2. I am not subject to backup withholding because: (a) I am exempt from backup withholding, or (b) I have not been notified by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) that I am subject to backup withholding as a result of a failure to report all interest or dividends, or (c) the IRS has notified me that I am no longer subject to backup withholding; and

3. I am a U.S. citizen or other U.S. person (defined below); and

4. The FATCA code(s) entered on this form (if any) indicating that I am exempt from FATCA reporting is correct.

Certification instructions.

You must cross out item 2 above if you have been notified by the IRS that you are currently subject to backup withholding because you have failed to report all interest and dividends on your tax return. For real estate transactions, item 2 does not apply. For mortgage interest paid, acquisition or abandonment of secured property, cancellation of debt, contributions to an individual retirement arrangement (IRA), and generally, payments other than interest and dividends, you are not required to sign the certification, but you must provide your correct TIN. See the instructions for Part II, later.

Future developments. For the latest information about developments related to Form W-9 and its instructions, such as legislation enacted after they were published, go to www.irs.gov/FormW9.

Purpose of Form

An individual or entity (Form W-9 requester) who is required to file an information return with the IRS must obtain your correct taxpayer identification number (TIN) which may be your social security number (SSN), individual taxpayer identification number (ITIN), adoption taxpayer identification number (ATIN), or employer identification number (EIN), to report on an information return the amount paid to you, or other amount reportable on an information return. Examples of information returns include, but are not limited to, the following.

- Form 1099-INT (interest earned or paid)
- Form 1099-DIV (dividends, including those from stocks or mutual funds)
- Form 1099-MISC (various types of income, prizes, awards, or gross proceeds)
- Form 1099-B (stock or mutual fund sales and certain other transactions by brokers)
- Form 1099-S (proceeds from real estate transactions)
- Form 1099-K (merchant card and third party network transactions)
- Form 1098 (home mortgage interest), 1098-E (student loan interest), 1098-T (tuition)
- Form 1099-C (canceled debt)
- Form 1099-A (acquisition or abandonment of secured property)

Use Form W-9 only if you are a U.S. person (including a resident alien), to provide your correct TIN.
